UNITED STATES v. GOTFRIED, 75 Cr. 1265.

ENDORSEMENT ORDER

Defendant Gottfried has moved to dismiss the instant indictment on the ground that by vesting the Attorney General with the authority to make certain determinations concerning the classification to controlled substances within the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 the Congress has impermissibly delegated a legislative function to the Attorney General. Defendant argues that the statute under which he was indicted for possession and distribution of cocaine hydrochloride, a Schedule II drug, is therefore unconstitutional.

As the affidavit submitted by the defendant in connection with this motion makes clear, there has been no decision by the Attorney General reclassifying cocaine. Nor does it appear that any is contemplated. Therefore, the power which defendant attacks as unconstitutionally delegated to the Attorney General has never been exercised by that officer. Under these circumstances, the defendant's application is premature and the Court will not rule upon the constitutionality of the celegation. See California Bankers Assn. v. Schultz, 416 U.S. 21, 55-56 (1974). See generally United States v. Russely, 345 U.S. 41, 48 (1953).

The motion is denied.

MR. KOHN: Your Honor, at this time pursuant to some agreement with the United States Attorney's Office as to Count 1 of the indictment, Mr. Gottfried wishes to change his plea and to plead guilty to that count, that is the conspiracy count, your Honor.

THE COURT: Is that satisfactory to the Government?

MS. CUSHMAN: It is satisfactory to the Government.

THE COURT: What is the understanding?

MR. COHN: The understanding is that on sentence of this matter, the Government will move to dismiss the other counts against this man and to make whatever cooperation he has given to the Government known to the Court in aid of sentence.

THE COURT: Is that correct?

MS. CUSHMAN: That is correct. The way I understand it, we will not oppose a motion to dismiss the other counts but the end result is the same.

MR. COHN: There was a motion to dismiss, your Honor, and as I understand it, your Honor has agreed and the Government has agreed that we preserve our right to appeal that denial of the motion to dismiss.

FOLEY SQUARE, NEW YORK, NY .- 791 1070

THE COURT: Satisfactory, Mrs. Cushman?

THE CLERK: How do you offer to plead?

THE DEFENDANT: Guilty.

A Salesman.

Q For whom?

8

A My last job I was a salesman for American Motors.

I was a car salesman in a dealership in Ozone Park.

10

Now long did you work for them?

11

A Three months.

12

Before that?

13

A I was working part time with Waldbaum's in the appetizing department as a clerk until I found a job as a salesman.

- Are you currently or have you recently been under the care of a physician or psychiatrist?
 - I am under the care of a psychologist.
 - For how long?
 - Since last July or August.
 - For what?

I had been disturbed. I didn't want to get into trouble. I had realized at that time that my thinking wasn't right. I knew I needed help and I was financially in trouble and I was desperate because I needed help and I wasn't getting any more help from my family and friends so I went and applied for welfare because I was having trouble collecting my unemployment at the time and I explained to them that I wanted help because I didn't want to do anything to get into trouble.

- What psychologist have you been going to?
- It is Mr. Gregory

If I may also, since I did not make copies, after the proceeding if I may take the original and supply copies back, I would appreciate the opportunity.

MS. CUSHMAN: May we have an opportunity to see that also, your Honor?

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. COHN: It just says he is competent BY THE COURT:

Have you been going and do you continue to go weekly?

Yes. A

- Are you still under medication, Mr. Gottfried?
- No, not at this time.
- Have you ever been treated for any narcotic addition or any other type of drug abuse?
 - No, sir. A
 - Are you feeling well today? Õ
 - Yes, sir. A
 - Do you understand what is going on here today? Q
 - Yes.
- Do you understand what your lawyer is and has been saying to you?

A Yes.

Q Do you understand what I am and what I have been saying to you?

A Yes.

5

Q And you have received a copy of the indictment against you?

7 8

A Yes.

9

And you have been over it with Mr. Cohn?

10

A Yes.

11

Q And he has explained to you what the charge here is against you in this Count 1?

12

11

A Yes.

13

Q Do you fully understand it?

15

14

A Yes, sir.

16

Q You have told your lawyer everything you know about this matter?

17

A Yes.

19

18

Q YOu have not held anything back from him?

20

A That is true.

21 22 Q Do you understand that if you did not plead guilty, you would have a right to a speedy and public trial by a jury of twelve people?

23

A Yes.

24

Do you understand that upon such a trial, you would be presumed innocent unless and until the Government established your guilt beyond a reasonable doubt to the satisfaction of all twelve jurors?

A Yes.

Q Do you understand that upon such a trial, you would have the right to confront and cross-examine all witnesses called by the Government against you?

A Yes.

Q And that upon such a trial, you could remain silent, no inference could be drawn against you by reason of your silence or if you wanted to, you could take the stand and testify in your own defense?

A Yes, sir.

O Do you understand that is you wanted to, you could have a trial before a Judge without a jury in which event the same things would be true, the burden would still be on the Government and you would have the same constitutional rights?

A Yes.

Q You understand you would have the right at a trial to subpoena witnesses and evidence for your own defense?

A Yes.

Q Do you understand if your offer to plead guilty is accepted, you give up these rights with respect to Count 1?

Yes.

And the Court can impose sentence upon you just as if the jury had brought in a verdict of guilty against you as to Count 1?

Yes.

8

Do you understand that upon your plea of guilty to this charge being accepted by the Court, the Court has

11

by reason of any promises or statements or predictions by anybody to the effect that you would get leniency or special treatment or consideration if you pleaded guilty instead of going to trial?

A No, sir.

Q Have you been induced to plead guilty by reason of any fear or pressure or the like?

A No, sir.

Q Is there anything you wish to ask about the charge or the consequences of pleading guilty at this time?

A No, sir.

O Do you understand that?

May we understand that you are offering to plead guilty to Count 1 because you believe you are guilty of that charge?

A Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Does the Government represent that it has sufficient evidence to make a prima facie case?

MS. CUSHMAN: Yes.

THE COURT: Counsel, you know of no valid legal defense that would prevail if he went to trial?

MR. COHN: I do not.

Q And you still wish to plead guilty to Count 1?

MR. COHN: Your Honor, it is possible we may ask to have the sentencing in the robing room or in chambers. I am not certain at this time.

THE COURT: Let me just ask counsel to arrange to go to the Probation Department before July 15th, a day or two before and to read the probation report there. Do not come to my chambers to read it. Read it at the Probation Office. The purpose of that being, if you have any changes, any corrections, you can bring it to the attention of the probation people right then and there so when I get it, that is finished, presumably.

MR. COHN: Does your Honor intend to have a pre-sentencing conference under the new rules?

THE COURT: There are no new rules in this District.

MR. COHN: Not yet.

THE COURT: If you have some suggestion that you wish to make in some fashion other than you would normally make from where you are presently standing, why don't you put it in the form a letter and submit it. You can consider sending a copy to Miss Cushman and I will consider that to be the conference unless more is

MR. COHN: Very well. May I have back the letter I gave and I will give your chambers and Miss Cushman a copy this afternoon.

THE COURT: On the question of bail, what is the bail situation?

MS. CUSHMAN: Your Honor, there is in fact a $10,000 PRB bond and the Government has no objection to that being continued.

THE COURT: Same bail. July 15th at 4:30.

THE COURT: Now appearing for the Government is Assistant United States Attorney Constance Cushman.

MISS CUSHMAN: That's correct.

THE COURT: For the defendant is Mr. Fred Cohn.

MR. COHN: Yes, your Honor.

THE COURT: And the defendant, Allen Gottfried.

Mr. Cohn on behalf of the defendant has reviewed the presentence report with the exception of the evaluative summary. Correspondence has been received on behalf of Mr. Gottfried including one letter from the defendant himself.

Now, Mr. Gottfried, you are now before the Court for sentencing.

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: On July 4, 1976, you pleaded guilty to the offense charged in Count One of the indictment. In substance you were convicted of conspiracy to distribute and possess with intent to distribute cocaine in violation of Federal Law. For the offense charged in Count One of the indictment the law provides a maximum punishment of up to 15 years in jail, prison that is, or a fine of up to $25,000 or both, and in addition, if a term of inprisonment is imposed the law requires that a special term of probation of at least three years be imposed. Mr. Cohn, do you know of any reason why sentence should not be imposed at this time?

MR. COHN: No, I do not.

THE COURT: What information do you have to present in mitigation of sentence on Mr. Gottfried's behalf?

MR. COHN: Well, your Honor, to get by that, and I think Miss Cushman will confirm that he did cooperate withthe government. As a result of his cooperation the codefendant, Allan Gottisman, was apprehended and I believe is either going to or has taken a Rule 20 Plea in California.

MISS CUSHMAN: That's correct, your Honor. The papers have all been transferred to California for a plea under Rule 20, but the plea has not been --

THE COURT: What happened to Diaz? Did I have Diaz?

MISS CUSHMAN: Diaz is a fugitive. He appeared in answer to the indictment and he is --

THE COURT: Bench warrant is outstanding?

MISS CUSHMAN: Bench warrant is outstanding. His whereabouts are unknown.

MR. COHN: I represent to the Court that as far as I know Mr. Gottfried doesn't know where Mr. Diaz is.

THE COURT: All right. Now, Diaz was the heavy in this situation as I recall it.

MR. COHN: Now, I've read the probation report as you indicated. Quite honestly it was one of the most sympathetic probations reports I've had the pleasure to read in some time. But this is an unusual case because I think, your Honor, although I'm not practicing forever, I've been practicing criminal law approximately ten years, this is one of the few times I've seen where I can really say that contrition exhibited to the Court at the time of sentence is not feigned for the purpose of influencing the Court.

There are special circumstances here. This conspiracy includes four sales but all persons agree, the therapist for Mr. Gottfried as well as the probation officer who writes down that he abandoned this conspiracy after two sales, and it was because he recognized the nature of his acts even then not under the compulsion of imminent arrest. He didn't know that the government was looking for him. He didn't know that these people that he had been dealing with were in fact agents of the DEA.

And I think that's exceedingly important in what you do here because I think that he is a long way home towards rehabilitation. His problems are problems as (24

I see them, and I say this not as an advocate because I think advocacy in reality stops at the time you take the plea, and here I either her to say something realistic or forever lose my credibility with judges if I'm going to recommend any sentence at all, and some times of course I say I don't have any recommendation, be merciful. That's not the case in this situation; but he's got substantial problems.

That doesn't mean he's a psychotic. I don't think.

I think given the studies you have you don't have to send him for a 90-day study, but I think that he has problems, and what is impressive is that at long last he's trying to meet them on his own. His father is here in court. His father I believe wrote to you.

He comes from a decent family.

THE COURT: Come up, sir.

(Mr. Gottfried, Sr., stands at bench.)

MR. COHN: The family itself is beset by other troubles of this nature. I think the probation report alludes to that. He's finally gotten himself a job as a parts clerk for Volkswagen, if he's free on the 19th which is the day he's supposed to commence. I know for a fact that the employer knows of this situation. He's been specifically told of this situation and it's not like somebody has hidden it from him.

13

15

14

16

17 18

19

21

22

24

23

25

Under all these circumstances I think that he ought to be given a chance to continue his rehabilitation. I think that a period of probation is certainly warranted. I don't think it would serve either the government's purpose or even the deterrent purpose under the circumstances here to put the defendant in jail. I must say it was cocaine. It's a serious drug. I mean it's not marijuana. It's a Schedule 2 drug. On the other hand, there were small amounts. He wasn't a regular dealer. He made $250 out of both deals. That's not severly; that's jointly.

Under those circumstances I think that he probably does deserve another chance.

THE COURT: Mr. Gottfried, referring to the son, do you know of any reason why sentence should not be imposed upon you at this time?

THE DEFENDANT: No, sir.

THE COURT: Anything you want to say on your own behalf or any information you wish to present in mitigation of sentence?

THE DEFENDANT: Well, I feel that Mr. Cohn has just said just about everything I would like to say. I would like to stress the fact that I do recognize where I did wrong and have been attempting and succeeding, I think, on the road to rehabilitation and I am trying very ard.

THE COURT: All right. I've already heard from your father. He wrote to me. What do you have to say, Miss Cushman, anything?

MISS CUSHMAN: No, your Honor, not at this time.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Gottfried, Mr. Alan Gottfried, I have been here five years and handled a fair number of cases involving Schedule 1 or Schedule 2 -- which one is this one?

MISS CUSHMAN: Two.

substances. I don't recall any such case that I have had where a seller was not sent to prison for a period of time. It started off intending that your case you, too, would have to go for some amount of time simply because the serious import of commerce in narcotics in this city, and the implications of that kind of activity for just many, many citizens, not to mention the effect it could have on families, loved ones find themselves in use or abuse or whatever of drugs whether it's cocaine or heroin. So, obviously, I think I make clear to you what my views are about trafficking in narcotics.

In your situation I have decided that I am not going to send you to prison because I have taken into consideration what your attorney has mentioned, that you only got $250 out of this whole thing. More importantly, perhaps, is that you abandoned your participation while the transactions were still going on with the others. You got out. You apparently did realize that you had backed into something very serious, very wrong, and whether you were interested in not getting caught and going to jail or whether you just didn't want to be involved further doesn't matter. You did get out of it and you got out, I guess, just about in the nick of time.

I'm not going to spend a lot of time here discussing other aspects of the probation report. They are better known to you and yours than I guess to anybody. If you feel that you can get your problems straightened out, you feel you've set a course and an effort to do that, that's fine. As a matter of fact I'll incorporate that as part of my sentence. You are 29 years old. Of course age doesn't necessarily have a relationship to what problems you have either physical, emotional or mental, but one thing is clear, you're well past the age where the majority of people assume responsibilities of adult-hood.

Now, if you find that complicated, difficult, not within your reach for a variety or reasons that can exist that's a factor; it has to be recognized.

At 29 years old you're moving along now. You are maybe half-way through your life. You are moving toward it. So this was a very, very stupid thing. You've never been seriously in trouble.

It's adjudged that the imposition of sentence is suspended. Defendant is placed on probation for a period of two years subject to the standard probation order of this court, and the defendant is to continue his mental health treatment as a condition of probation.

There are two outstanding counts, Mr. Cohn.

MR. COHN: You Honor, at this time I move to dismiss the outstanding counts of the indictment. I think that's counts two and three.

MISS CUSHMAN: Government has no objection.

MR. COHN: Thank you very much, your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Good day.

THE DEFENDANT: Thank you, your Honor.

MR. GOTTFRIED, SR: Thank you.

MISS CUSHMAN: In the event the bench warrant upon which Mr. Gottisman was arrested in California is still outstanding at this time it should be vacated.

THE COURT: Application is granted.
